At the Exceptional Women Alliance (EWA), we celebrate the visionary women driving innovation across industries. This month, we're excited to introduce Catherine Calarco, board director of Optomed and a leader in leveraging AI to enhance patient care. Catherine shares how AI-driven technologies like Optomed's portable Fundus camera are transforming early disease detection and personalized treatment. She also emphasizes the importance of compassionate leadership in an increasingly tech-driven world. Join us as we explore her vision for the future of AI in healthcare and its potential to revolutionize patient outcomes.
